INTRO 4 bars — piano only

| D | G/D | D | G/D |

VERSE 1 sparse — piano and voice

D A/C#

The world is full of noise

Bm7 G

It tries to drown You out

It pulls me left and right

Bm7 G

It fills my head with doubt

PRE-CHORUS punched, rhythmic — kick on beats, build through

Em7 G

It takes, it takes, it takes

Em7 G

But You give, You give, You give

Bm7 A

All of You

G (hold — let it ring into the chorus)

For all of me

CHORUS open — full band (three-quarter strength first time, full thereafter)

D A

Only You are the One who sees me

Bm7 G

Only You are the One who knows me

D

A

Only You died and rose to life again

Bm7

G

You set my feet on solid ground

G

A

Only You, King Jesus

D

(D)

Only You, King Jesus

VERSE 2 slightly fuller — bass and light acoustic enter

D

A/C#

But I can rest in You

Bm7

G

Here in Your presence now

D

A/C#

The striving and the fear

Bm7

G

Grow quiet on the ground

Repeat Pre-Chorus and Chorus (full strength), then 2–4 bar instrumental turn, dynamics drop to half.

BRIDGE x3, building each pass: quiet → mid → full

Bm7

G

Let the noise fade away

D

A

Let the doubt fade away

Bm7

G

Let the fear fade away

D

A (final pass: Asus4 → A)

Till I hear only You

BREAK the most important bar in the song — do not fill it

G (held) → two seconds of genuine silence

Till I hear only You

FINAL CHORUS full — the biggest moment of the song

As Chorus, full strength. Leader steps back on the final tag and lets the congregation carry it.

OUTRO stripped back to piano and voice

A

Only You, King Jesus

D5 (held – omit the third: open, at rest)

Only You, King Jesus

Notes for the team: if the congregation strains at the chorus peak ($\approx B4$), transpose to C — everything moves cleanly. The pre-chorus is rhythmic, not melodic; keep it percussive so the chorus has something to release. Teach the bridge by doing it: first pass solo and quiet, the room joins by pass two. Check these chords against the demo recording and amend where the recording differs.
